

GARY BROWN'S ESSENTIAL BAIT FISHING RIGS

RIGGING CUNJEVOI

Depending on the size of the cunjevoi you can use it either whole or cut it in half, making sure that you pass the hook through the breathing hole. I usually use either a turn-down or turn-back eyed bait keeper hook as the sliced barbs on the shank and the eye help hold it in place. You could put a couple of half hitches around the breathing hole to help secure.

Mainly used when targeting drummer and groper, when fishing off the rocks. I have also caught bream, trevally, tarwhine, snapper, sweep, red rock cod and wirrahs on cunjevoi.
